A MESSAGE FROM OUR CEO

Greetings NHI Friends! It does not seem possible that November is here. We enter this month of thanks sharing why we are thankful. I asked staff and individuals what types of things they were most thankful for during this month of giving thanks. The answers were consistent across the board, freedom, family, friends, faith, a good job, good food, NHI, good health, and a safe home.

I echo these same things. I am also incredibly thankful for our individuals served as well as our NHI staff. Each day is a blessing and a journey. I am thankful for the ability and support of family, friends, staff, individuals, families, and the NHI board to provide services that are impactful and make a difference in individuals lives.

During this month of thanks let us also remember to practice kindness. Listen to one another with the intent to learn and understand not to respond. Not everything deserves a response. Observations will always differ. Differences arise from one's perspective, biases or methods used to analyze. NHI values all perspectives, and we value supporting people to live better lives.

I encourage everyone to take time this month to reflect on what you are grateful for.
